Drafted: Selected by Boston Red Sox in 26th Round of the 1992 amateur entry draft.

Eric was a former pitcher in the Boston Red Sox organization and local Milford High School stand-out in Baseball and Basketball. In 1992, Eric was drafted by the Boston Red Sox in the 26th round of the amateur entry draft. As an 18 year old senior about to embark on every boy's childhood dream – to become a major league baseball player.

After 4 years of hard work and dedication he made his way through several levels in the minor leagues with MVP honors, but sustained an arm injury that forced him to retire from baseball. Eric has been providing baseball instruction to children through private lessons and clinics passing on his knowledge from his baseball career.

Eric's ultimate goal is to continue providing baseball instruction and assistance to young children and high school athletes in their endeavors to become skillful baseball players, learning the true spirit of the game and in life.

Advice from Coach Cormier:

My advice to players is to ignore the negative stuff that might come from adults and learn and train with people who believe in you and want to help you achieve "your" goals!

My advice to parents is push hard that your kids perform in the classroom as well as on the field. It should not be a choice for the player.
